

American Fame

Tim Halperin

This is the life that I wanted to live
So many things that I wanted to give
And I'd give them all back for you This is the sound of my dreams coming true
Now I'm one step further from you
And I'd walk right back for you I'm bathed in shining lights
Famous friends and crazy nights This is American fame
All of the praise and the blame
All of the crowds and the press
All I feel is loneliness
This is American bliss
All it took was a kiss
All I gave was my heart
And it's tearing my world apart
It's tearing my world apart Suddenly life is moving so fast
I hope my fifteen minutes will last
Oh, but I'd turn the clock right back for you Sometimes I find myself saying your name
But when I see you it won't be the same
Oh, still I'd walk right back for you I'm bathed in shining lights
Famous friends and crazy nights This is American fame
All of the praise and the blame
All of the crowds and the press
All I feel is loneliness
This is American bliss
All it took was a kiss
All I gave was my heart
And it's tearing my world apart This is American fame
All of the praise and the blame
All of the crowds and the press
All I feel is loneliness This is American bliss
All it took was a kiss
All I gave was my heart
And it's tearing my world apart
It's tearing my world apart, ooh yeah
Oh, my world apart

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>