

How Many Times? (Acoustic Union Street)

Erasure

Love leave me alone, I've got troubles of my own

I do believe that I have paid the price

For all the things I've said and done

Every little thing that seemed to go wrong How many times will I regret the chances taken?

Why do I end up always the one who is mistaken? Love leave me to sleep, let me wallow in my dreams

See the icy past fade away

The dawning of a brand new day

The echoes of the past that still remind me How many times will I regret the chances taken?

Why do I end up always the one who is mistaken? How many times will I regret the chances taken?

Why do I end up always the one who is mistaken? How many times will I regret the chances taken?

Why do I end up always the one who is mistaken?
