Less Is More

Rupert Holmes

The more I learn, the less I know
The more I earn, the more I owe
The more I search for somethin' new
The more I come right back to youI'll always need your love I guess
I've looked for more but more is less
You take me in, you take me slow
You let me be, you let me knowThat less is more, less is more
Hold me tight and everything is right
Just like before
Oh, take it easyLove is more, love is more
Love is more than all the empty dreams
Outside your door
Make it easyThe more you buy, the less you've sold
The more you try, the more you fold
The more you read, the less you see
The more you need, the less you're freeDo what you do, you do it best
Don't run the race with all the rest
You set the pace so easily
With all the moves you make on meLess is more, less is more
Hold me tight and everything is right
Just like before
Oh, take it easyLove is more, love is more
Love is more than all the empty dreams
Outside your door
Make it easyAnd more and more I must confess
I find I'm needing less and less
Why take the climb, why take the fall?
When more is here and less is allLove is here, love is there
Love is found with both feet on the ground
That you share
Take it easyLess is more, less is more
Less is more than everything combined
That's gone before
Make it easy
