It Was You

The Pierces

Well, I've been lying here all alone
Wondering if you are
Ever coming home
I left on the light by the bedIn case, you could come to call
What is wrong with me?
I said, to myselfI never really thought it would last
And here I am now fading fast
But I will not sleep tonight
No, I could not sleep tonightWhere would you go?
What would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was youWhere would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you
If it wasn't me, it was youIf only you could feel my heart race
And see the light on my face
Then you would know the truth
And I would know the truthThen maybe you don't like what I brought
Well, maybe I am not what you thought
But don't worry you are not
What I thought you were eitherWhere would you go?
What would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was youWhere would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was you
If it wasn't me, it was youNo matter how hard it gets
No matter how thick your head is
There's always something more to learn
Even if you just want to quitWhere would you go?
And what would you do?
If it wasn't me, it was youWhere would you go?
And what would you do?
Where would you go?
And what would you do?Where would you go?
And what would you do?
Where would you go?
And what would you do?If it wasn't me, it was you
If it wasn't me, it was you
If it wasn't me, it was you
