

Elitist Attitudes

A Global Threat

you put quarters in the juke box to complain about the songs you used to be supportive now you're telling us we're wrong but nothing's really changed, we're still a bunch of kids still singing nothing fucking different than we ever did still playing for the kids but why should i be justifying what we try to do to somebody who sits around talking shit like you you try to so hard to segregate the kids who still participate in what you claim to be part of you eliminate it divide and seal our fate elite few
who needs you?
elite few
the maine punx are everywhere, in every fucking state it's all the kids who refuse to live how their fucking peers dictate it's all the kids out getting shit for how they look and how they think that's why we'r all still singing it, and anyone can join in you missed the fucking point

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>