Oh Momma

Noah Gundersen

Give me that line again
He's not coming home again tonight
Momma, wipe those tears from your cheeks
It don't make no difference now
Remind me one last time
That you won't never ever ever go
Oh, the whales can't swim without the tide
And birds won't fly without the stars in the sky
Oh, and I can't feel without your touch
I can't dream without your smile
I can't live without your love
Ooh, momma no I cannot fall without your hand
And I can't cry without your arms
I can't live without your love
Ooh, momma
Give me that song again
Hold me closer than you ever did before
When I've given all, I'll give you more
We'll keep on floating to the shore
You can take the storm and turn it all around
And then the sun shines through
Ah, the story of your life
We have all been designed
But you're as real on the outside
Momma
Oh well, I can't feel without your touch
I can't dream without your smile
I can't live without your love
Ooh, Momma, no I cannot fall without your hand
And I can't cry without your arms
I can't live without your love
Ooh, Momma
See when it all comes back around
And he still can't figure out
How he let you get away
You just keep your head up high
And know it's better off that way
Just know it's better off that way
Know it's better off that way

I can't feel without your touch
I can't dream without your spell
I can't live without your love
Oh Momma, no
I cannot fall without your hand
And I can't cry without your arms
I can't live without you
Oh, Momma
