Halfway Home

Jason Mraz

I used to walk along the opposite side of the road and made others get out of my way
I used to think I could sit and wait for the times but they wont come until I meet them halfwayI'm halfway home and I'm on my own
I'm halfway there and I don't care, I don't mind
I plan to leave here after supper time that's when traffic is light, all I need is a sign and I'll be alright. I'll be fineI used to think that i could just sleep and then I'd dream
And everything it would come to me
Until I woke one day without anything to eat
Lying on the opposite side of the streetI'm halfway home and I'm still out on my own
I'm halfway there and I don't care, I don't mind
Because it ain't my time to stay or say
I'll never lay down.I used to think that I could just sit and wait for the time
But I know I gotta meet them halfwayI'm halfway home I tried home running with the flow
I'm halfway there. Ain't it funny how everybody seems to care
I planned to get there around supper time they're serving up bread and wine
All I needed was a sign and I'll be alright.
I'll be fine.(It seems to be a running theme about being fine and alright but I don't mind.)
