

Break the Line

Rapture Ruckus

So are you ready to go
To step out put on your own
Are you ready to let go, and let the whole world know
Yea' I'm back on my grind
And I've only one thought on my mind
And I'm gonna go back and hit rewind
Go back and rewrite history this time
It's over, I can feel it in the air
A new day is rising and it's almost here
I'll listen to faith, I won't listen to fear
So you can say what you want, 'cause I just don't care
So are you ready to go, to step out on your own
Are you ready to let go and let the whole world know
This is your moment to shine, forget the road that's behind
This time you ain't fighting blind, you gonna break the line
As the rain falls from the sky, as these thoughts running through my mind
Will I make it through the night, tonight, tonight
This is your moment you got to hold and own it
Take back what's frozen and you know your chosen and you're gonna impact
Yeah man you're gonna break the line and you'll never go back
So are you ready to go, to step out on your own
Are you ready to let go and let the whole world know
This is your moment to shine, forget the road that's behind
This time you ain't fighting blind, you gonna break the line
Let's hold this moment in time
This time you walk the line
Not alone this mountain you climb
Back to the top, till you're back on the line
Let's go let's hold the line, I'll watch your back you watch mine
You were born to touch the sky, so spread your wings like an eagle and learn to fly
Who's ready to climb this Time ticks by, time's expired, now it's timeless
Time to dig deep, redesign redefine it, go through the fire transform and Optimus Prime it
We gotta know will you take it over the edge
The voice inside your heart is stronger than the voice inside of your head
Your time is now, show'em what you got
Your one and only shot
Show'em who you are and never who you're not

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>