

Another Round

Far From Alaska

All powers drain right from my head again
You haven't failed until you quit
Trying to do your best Breaking the wrist with the weight of the world
Easing the pain through a few loopholes And to this day such damn thoughts only come at night
Ambition through my veins
Like ten versus one I lose again another round
Ambition is not in vain Gold armies march on the streets at dawn
As the empire rises mine's in downfall
I can't breathe once again
