Scars

Jane of Arc

She's the girl in the back row
To the left of who she wants to be
Oh, and she's the sweetest forgotten
Surprise in this life we lead
And the mirrors don't do justice
To the girl inside fighting to breathe
She's looking for something
She's fighting for something to believe
And she sings...Color me wonderful
Make me feel beautiful
Send out my heart to the sea
Oh, this life's a reflection of me
But it's so hard to be anything
Least of all free of meWell the years weren't forgotten
They were built up beneath all her tears
But she came into realizing insecurity caused her fears
She's since grounded her anger
And is able to look in the mirror
It's far from all over
She knows it's not over
She believes...It's ok, she says.
It's all up here in my head
These are all things we deal with inside
You've gotta help me find pride and Find out where I've been
And she sings...Color me wonderful
Make me feel beautiful
Send out my heart to the sea
Oh, this life's a reflection of me
But it's so hard to be anything
Least of all free of meShe's washing her of these memories
She's turning from all of the doubt
She's filling up all the emptiness
Scars changed her life and she's coming around
And she's washing her of these memories
She's turning from all of the doubt
She's filling up all the emptiness
Scars changed her life and she's coming aroundThe color is wonderful
I made me beautiful

Heart, come on in from the sea
Oh, this life's a reflection of me
But these scars helped me be something
Finally all of me
