

Hospital For Heroes

Direct Hit!

Well I've been pissing in a cup for a couple of weeks,
And not a single fucking one is an indictment of me

I'm like whoa-oh-oh

I'm like whoa-oh-oh

I told the scientists who visit about the chemical drain
But nobody thinks I'm serious, they think I'm insane

I'm like whoa-oh-oh

I guess I just don't know

And so I'm sitting in this room and I'm hooked up on IV
And I've been watching everything on late night cable for free

Because whoa-oh-oh

There's nowhere to go

Sometimes I see a patient pass me by in the hall
And I can hear each of their thoughts but I don't like it all
Because I'm shut up in this cell and they won't turn off the lights
The brightest fucking darkness it feels like on most nights

Got super strength and ultra speed

That heightened consciousness I need But everyone's all alone in the hospital for heroes

Everyone's all dethroned by the chemicals that bring them to zero

Everyone's all alone in the hospital for heroes

Everyone's all alone with their thoughts is all depressed for a year

So please won't you ease it? Well I'd been pissing in a cup for a couple of weeks

Before they finally explain they couldn't find a disease

I'm like whoa-oh-oh

I guess it's time to go

But sure enough they said I couldn't leave and be free

Because my mind's too powerful for any society

I've got abilities their education can't understand

And their civic fucking duty's to be sure that I can't

Attack the government, their people, or their children, or their property,

So have a seat we'll figure it out

But immunity from pain or feeling

Joyful in spite of everyone weeping

Can't make us better, can't break us all out

Were in prison for life, that's what this songs about

Immunity, no pain, no feeling

Spiteful in spite of everyone weeping

Can make us better, might make us forget

That we're in this together 'bout time that we met Cause everyone's all alone in the hospital for heroes

Everyone all dethroned by the chemical that brings them to zero
Everyone's all alone in the hospital for heroes
Everyone's all been told that their thoughts are all that's brought them to zero
Everyone's all alone in the hospital for heroes
Everyone's all alone with their thoughts is all depressed for a year
So please won't you ease it?
