Worth The Wait

Adelaine

I am not the one who usually, keeps things inside
And i am not the one who usually, runs and hides
But when you tell me
That we can be together,
I'll run into your open arms and open heart
When you tell me that we can be together
I'll run into your open arms and open heart.
Some thing s in life are,
Worth the waiting,
And so many things in life are, worth the fight.
I refuse to let my impatience,
Get the best of me
Cause i believe, what we have is so worthy (yehea)
So, when you tell me that we can be together
I'll run into your open arms and open heart
When you tell me that we can be together,
I'll run into your open arms and open heart
Open, open heart,
Into your open open heart
And i'm telling you,
I'll wait through many sons and moons
And i'm telling you,
I'll fight through many days and nights
And i'm telling you,
I'll wait through many sons and moons
And i'm telling you,
I'll fight through many days and nights
I'm singing it out
You were worth the wait,
Singing it out,
You were worth the wait,
Singing it out,
You were worth the wait,
Singing it out and,
So when you tell me that we can be together
I'll run into your open arms and open heart
When you tell me that we can be together
I'll run into your open arms and open heart
Singing it out,

You were worth the wait,
Singing it out,
You were worth the wait,
Singing it out,
You were worth the wait,
Singing it out (oh ho)

Lyrics submitted by andy jones.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/