Moth To the Flame

Thunder

Wake up on the floor like you did before
And you don't know what today is
So you shut out the sun until the day is done
But you can't run away from itYou must've done it all this time
And nothing's really changed
You pushed reality away
And still wake up to find
It wasn't all in your mindAnd it's always the same
Another bad movie now
You'll go crawling back again, oh
Like a moth to the flameTake it to the edge, stumble on the ledge
You're a candle that has to burn
'cause you bought the dream
And from the way that it seems
You're living in that other worldWhere everything is beutiful
And someone else will pay
But you won't find an answer there
'cause the question still remains
You better hear what I sayDo you feel like the rain ?
Always coming down now
Don't you tell me it's a game
'cause I don't believe it
You're a moth to the flame(SOLO)Where everything is beutiful
And someone else will pay
But you won't find an answer there
'cause the question still remains
You better hear what I sayAnd it's always the same
Another bad movie now
You'll go crawling back again, oh
Like a moth to the flameDon't you tell me it's a game
'cause I don't believe it
You're a moth to the flame
