Desire on Repeat

Veda

It's all the same
Sex in the air
Your promise is all the same
You'll be the one who will always careBut how can you promise the world?
How can you promise your heart when it's always searching?But I'm just like youI don't want to deny my heart its chance to feel
I don't want to deny my soul something real
Is there anything left in this world that will satisfy me?"Do you really love him?" They'll say
Your second chances scribbled in the rules
But I think the consequence
It's just
Something more feels so exciting now
And this black romance is so enticing
And this desire is worth the fighting
But is it worth deciding that I am just like you?I don't want to deny my heart its chance to feel
I don't want to deny my soul something real
Is there anything left in this world that will satisfy you and me?(And it keeps repeating)
And it keeps repeating
It keeps repeating
(And we keep believing)
And we keep believing
We keep believingDisrupt the part of me that needs some space
Repeat that look I see in your face
Remind me of truth
Remind me of the reason for existing
Remind me of truth
Remind me of the reason for existing
