

Fallen From Graceland

Richie Sambora

There's a line that you cross
When you find out that you're lost
When your world is closing in
And it crawls under your skin
And the heart's always blind
When it's in this state of mind
There's a burning light in this town
For every heart that's broken down tonight
Here tonight
You're stranded out there in the rain
And you just can't see past the pain tonight
You've fallen from Graceland
Fallen from Graceland
When you're too proud to crawl
It keeps your back against the wall
You wanna die, but you live
With nothing left to give
And there's no place to hide
When you're tangled up inside
There's a burning light in this town
For every heart that's broken down tonight
Here tonight
You're stranded out there in the rain
But you just can't see past the pain tonight
You've fallen from Graceland
Fallen, you've fallen from Graceland tonight
Fallen, fallen, fallen, fallen from Graceland
And tonight
And there's no place to hide
When you're tangled up inside
There's a burning light in this town
For every heart that's broken down tonight
Here tonight
You're stranded out there in the rain
But you just can't see past the pain tonight
You've fallen from Graceland
Fallen, you've fallen from Graceland tonight
Fallen, fallen, fallen, fallen from Graceland
And tonight
There's a light
A bright light burning
For every broken heart in this world tonight
Deep inside
Yes, there's one light burning
That will lead you through the storm tonight
It's gonna be alright
Be alright, yeah
Gonna be alright, yeah

It's gonna be alright
( oh, it's gonna be alright, tonight) Fallen, fallen, fallen, fallen from Graceland
(Fallen from Graceland)
Tonight
