Tonight

Maren Ord

I don't know the way that I will go
I don't care whether fast or slow
Just take me there, now, anyway you canI don't know who I really am
I don't know how to be a man
I don't know anything at allDon't ask me tonight
Tonight, tonightSometimes I'll take the hand that's out
And I will never figure out
What took me there, even when I look up highI must always use my head
Of all the little things I've ever said
I don't know anythingDon't ask me tonight
Tonight, tonightSomehow you came along
You lifted up my head
And then you were gone
You're not yourselfWhere have you been, I'm all alone
Your story is wearing thin
Tonight, tonightCurled up on the couch alone
Just sitting, waiting there pathetically
Hoping that you'll walk through that doorI don't see you anymore
You don't see me anymore
We don't see anyone at allDon't ask me tonight
Tonight, tonightDon't ask me tonight
Tonight, tonight
Tonight, tonight
Somehow, somehow
