Sanctuary

Sick of It All

This is for the one who saved me accepts me for who i am, just me and always gives back tenfold whatever i give Respect was never ever questioned, every feeling reciprocated mutual ideals and passion straight from the soul, from my soul When i'm safely in your arms there i find my sanctuary help me weather every storm, you're my sanctuary, my true love There are those who tried to use you even ones who would abuse you they never took the time to see what i see how you're always waiting for me kept me sane while all was crazy and so i give you what's dearest to me My true love the very first time you touched my soul from that day on never want to let you go
