

Lost Symphonies

Saosin

To install the notion that I divided by I replace the occasion to speak I'm not the only lonely boy until I decide to take my watch off, I still believe that we were just a matter of time, stop getting older everyday, shout for shout's sake siren siren, don't do this dance in my ear, in fact, ive already lost him once do deadly dance and ive asked for is so little
in fact, ive already lost him once If I decide to sever the plates below the shore would seperate and find only seven plates again until I decide to take my watch off, I still believe that we were just a matter of time, stop getting older everyday, shout for shout's sake

siren siren, dont do this dance in my ear,
in fact, ive already lost him once do a deadly dance and ive asked for so little in fact, ive already lost him before commemorating I hope you still believe before commemorating ten feet tall and seperate the bow before commemorating I hope you still believe
before commemorating ten feet tall and seperate the bow
before commemorating I hope you still believe (if i decide to sever the plates below, the shore would seperate and find only seven plates again oh i hope you still believe)

THIS LAST PART IN PARENTHESIS IS THE BACKGROUND OF THE ENDING

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>