

Free Me

Youth Lagoon

I'm burning up, the chimney's shut, suspicion's fully gone
But nobody does truly on their own
On their ownThe earth, it quakes, your voice creates a silence through my home
Nobody does truly on their own
On their ownI've been caught in the water since I turned 8 years old
What started as a spark burned down the household
Free me
Free meI've felt heaviness creep since I turned 8 years old
What started as a phantom took over the world
Free me
Free me
As the roof caves in, ambers light my skin
Lying on the floor, undressed
The taste of green tea drips onto my cracked lips
From the table by the bedHoly one,
Holy one
Shield my head from the sunHoly one,
Holy one
Shield my head from the sunI've been caught in the water since I turned 8 years old
What started as a spark burned down the household
Free me
Free me
I've felt heaviness creep since I turned 8 years old
What started as a phantom took over the world
Free me
