

Can't Go Back

Love And Theft

Mountains starin' at me as they're rollin' by
Sunset paints a path across the Southern sky
Headin' down the dusty highway
There he was in the middle of the road
I said, "Old man, let me help you, I can take you home"
And he said, "Son you can't imagine the trouble that you been
This whole world's gone crazy, livin' in sin
We want peace and understandin' and harmony again
But you can't, can't go back to where you've never been"
I'm still runnin' from the shadows and the flames
Searchin' for a place where someone knows my name
On my way through Arizona, I let a fortuneteller read my hand
She told me she could see things I'd never understand
She said, "Son, you can't imagine the trouble that you been
This whole world's gone crazy, livin' in sin
We want peace and understandin' and harmony again
But you can't, can't go back to where you've never been"
I hear in the desert wind a distant voice Singin', "Son, you can't imagine the trouble that you been
This whole world's gone crazy, livin' in sin
We want peace and understandin' and harmony again
But you can't, can't go back
No, you can't, can't go back to where you've never been"
You can't go back to where you've never been Can't go back to where you've never been
