Zoo

Ani Difranco

I can no longer watch TV Cause that shit really melts my brain I think Im what they call sensitive And easily thrown off my gameAll that bloodshed and pettiness Just makes the world seem so insane And I just feel drainedWhen I go to do my food shopping And all I can see is the packaging One big mountain of garbage About to be happeningAnd I walk past my own self-loathing Like I walk past animals in the zoo Trying not to really see them And the prison they didnt chooseIf I should ever quit your spotlight I hope you wont think me wrong Says the poet to the moonlight Says the singer to the songIts enough just to stay upright Upright in every single way Pour your love into your children Until theres nothing left to sayPour your love into your children Until theres nothing left to say
