

A Lifetime Burning.

One Less Reason

Album: A Lifetime Burning
Theres something wrong in her world today
She screams aloud but just wont say
Never was her strongest point to, hurry up a wait
Now its all been said and done
A preachers daughter, a devils son
Her favorite color, a day alone
No smile on her face
And you
Were wrong
And you
Were wrong
Cause I dont believe I failed you
Are your lies still coming true?
Do you still think the better days are gone?
Cause after all the things weve been through
Years so hard to lose
Give me a life of half love, half hope, half true
Or a lifetime burning with you
And all those things hed said hed got Seemed so big but dont mean much
Spends his days just praying
God oh, feeling in this way
No one saw the broken heart
Or even knew the day it started
No one thought he was good enough
Except for you
Except for you
I dont believe I failed you
Are your lies still coming true?
Do you still think the better days are gone?
Cause after all the things weve been through
Years so hard to lose
Give me a life of half love, half hope, half true
Or a lifetime burning
yea
Youre gonna miss those things youre giving away
You need to hold out, youre gonna break down
You need to find your way back to the start
Who cares what they say?
Its still your heart
Your heart
Something wrong in her world today
The one she loves, she threw away
Still see it on her face, when shes got a smile to fake
And all those things he said hed got
He cashed them in and it just wasnt enough
To buy back a star to replace the one he loved
And you
Were wrong

And I

Was wrong Cause I dont believe I failed you

Are your lies still coming true?

Do you still think the better days are gone?

Cause after all the things weve been through

Years so hard to lose

Give me a life of half love, half hope, half true

Cause Ill take a life of half love, half hope, half true

Or a lifetime burning

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>