Fisherking

Craig Cardiff

swallowed whole and spat you out before you'd had a chance to blink just when you'd built a song to change the way people thinki said, hey why now such a sudden surprise after what they've done with the sixties where they wrapped up janice, jimi and joni sold them back to the hippieseverybody loves you and then everybody left in the end there was only ever you and me ever really you and me and the musici cried when i saw you as hollow as all the bones inside a bird you looked like you might explode if someone said the word

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/