

Gold and Silver

Flagship

Sweetheart, the ocean has its gold and has its fear in its skies each night

In glory are the weights that pull me far and deeper still to the end

my destiny

Hunting for thrills for gold and silver

Honey they bury me today for gold and silver

Gold and silver, for gold and silver

For gold and silver

For gold and silver

Silver

They buried me in light caught and shackled to the aisle cannonball that takes with me

Here at the bottom I dreamt of creatures far beyond your wildest sparkling dreams

How I love the sea

No glory in my spirit breaks Ill never taste your lips or touch your skin our end is here

Hunting for thrills for gold and silver

Honey they're burying me today for gold and silver

Gold and silver for gold and silver

Gold and silver for gold and silver
