Say Something

Heather Nova

Say something, let it fly
Darkness is here and so am I
Say something, I don't care
Just let the words spill everywhere
And I'll just lie awake and watch the stars
There is no one can take this night of ours
Except for you, so get it through to me
Say something, I believe
There's still a chance for this to breathe
Say something, make it real
And risk it all, for what you feel

And I'll just lie awake and watch the stars
There is no one can take this night of ours
Except for you, so get it through to me
Your silence is not golden
Your words have not been stolen
No matter, in my head
I hear the words you never said
And I'll just lie awake and watch the stars
There is no one can take this night of ours
Except for you
