If all our lies were energy
We'd build a wall and set them free
For all the words I've badly wrote
I'll build a boat and let it float away, awayI ran from such a little man
It's over now, it's over now
And after all you wore me outIf all our lies were energy
We'd build a wall and let it be
For all the times I've wrongly spoke
I'll build a boat and let it float away, awayI ran from such a little man
It's over now, it's over now
And after all you wore me outYou're passing needles through me
My bloody referee
Still passing needles through me
My bloody refereeAnd let it float away, awayI ran from such a little man
It's over now, it's over now
And after all you wore me outYou're passing needles through me
My bloody referee
Still passing needles through me
My bloody refereeMy bloody referee
My bloody referee
My bloody referee
