

The Forsaken

Tracedawn

we left our lives mutilated now the tables have turned no one will hear the cries of the homeless an eye for an eye the earth is pleading for help it will not go unheard there must be balance and order it will be restored our prayers will go unanswered our barricades will be shattered beyond repair, beyond this fear we can only wait for the final curtain to fall there will be no shelter the beaten can't lay down their bones there will be no haven for the forsaken for the forsaken The king must lose his crown and give way to a new rule his minions will tear him apart and take away his throne A fall from grace is what this rotten mankind needs for the bleeding wounds we've inflicted to finally heal your God will be deaf to your pleas our barricades will be shattered
beyond repair, beyond this fear
we can only wait for the final curtain to fall there will be no shelter
the beaten can't lay down their bones
there will be no haven for the forsaken
for the forsaken (radio transmission, incomprehensible) there will be no shelter
the beaten can't lay down their bones there will be no haven for the forsaken x2

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>