Aurora Borealis

Meat Puppets

Under a darkened sun, they are born
When the moon is losing its shape
I'm here again to see
Nightly dance of the flamesOnce my father bore his sword
To defend the clan till the end
Now he braves the battles
Between red northern flamesIn the silence of night
I stare at those ancient lights
Which enlighten the way from the cradle
And lead warriors in graveThey have always been
And they will never change
They light the fire of soul
And keep it burning brightAnd behind the scattered clouds
Star field of the sky
Brings back the dreams I already lostShall I ever be like him?
Brave warrior of night
Whose name will be
Written on the northern lightsIn the silence of night
I stare at those ancient lights
Which enlighten the way from the cradle
And lead warriors in graveThey have always been
And they will never change
They light the fire of soul
And keep it burning bright
