

A Little More Work

Kira Isabella

Every morning, you show up at the farm
Tattoo on either arm, and give my daddy eight long hours
I can see you steal a glance, every single chance
Hoping I'll be at my window
Wind those sticks, and the hay is cut
The sun is set, and you're packing up
And you think I'll jump right in your truck
You're just getting started

Still, gotta little more work to do
before you sweep me off my boots
Sorry I don't fall that easy
I need more than a 'Hey there, baby'
Don't think for a minute you'll play me
Tell you right now boy
You're gonna have to beg for a kiss or two
You still got a little more work to do

I admit, when you take off your shirt
And get down in the dirt
It's hard for me to look away
But I wanna know there's more than that Underneath that baseball cap
So show me at the end of the day

When you're finished all my daddy's chores
And you come knocking at my door
Be ready to work a whole lot more
You're just getting started

Still, gotta little more work to do
before you sweep me off my boots
Sorry I don't fall that easy
I need more than a 'Hey there, baby'
Don't think for a minute you'll play me
Tell you right now boy
You're gonna have to beg for a kiss or two
You still got a little more work to do
Yeah, you still got a little more work to do

You still gotta little more work to do
before you sweep me off my boots
Sorry I don't fall that easy
I need more than a 'Hey there, baby'
Don't think for a minute you'll play me
Tell you right now boy
You're gonna have to beg for a kiss or two
You still got a little more work to do

I need more, more than a 'Hey there, baby'
Don't think for a minute you'll play me
Tell you right now, boy
You're gonna have to beg for a kiss or two
And you still got a little more work to do
You still got a little more work to do
