

She Smiles Like a River (Remastered 95)

Leon Russell

Well she smiles just like a river
Rolling softly to the sea.
When she blows away my problems
She helps to take, take a little weight off me. When she's happy, I'm in heaven.
If she's down, she'll never say.
'Cause she knows I'm treading water.
Guess she feels I'm better off that way. But when sadness overcomes me; I'm blinded by the night,
She takes my hand and leads me to the light.
And she whispers in the morning; she knows the words to say
To keep me looking forward to the new day. So I try just to be her lover
And I hope she understands
When I hurt her or make her crazy
That I'm just an ordinary man.
