Good Enough

Dodgy

I've got an aching in my bones
I've been exposed to what I want to see The fuse is burning somewhere; it's drenched in heat it's where I long to beThere's always two sides you don't have to suffer
If this is heaven then send me to hell
So stay in the light, don't take your eyes from the prize
Hey, they've got the bellIf it's good enough for you, it's good enough for me
It's good enough for two, it's what I want to seeSing a song as the sun does rise if you don't ask questions and you don't know what There's a bridge to the other side don't take your eyes from the prizeThere's always two sides you don't have to suffer
If this is heaven then send me to hell
So stay in the light, don't take your eyes from the prize
Hey, they've got the bellIf it's good enough for you, it's good enough for me
It's good enough for two, it's what I want to seeThere's always two sides you don't have to suffer
If this is heaven then send me to hell
So stay in the light, don't take your eyes from the prize
Hey, they've got the bellYou'd like me to buy mind,
The situation may never find
