

Angels to Dust

September Mourning

Giving up slowly underneath the weight of this world shedding my white wings watching as the halo burns if I scream out striking out die out or if you are haunting
in the end
when we've lost our only trust we'll turn from angels into dust till there is nothing, nothing left of us I can hear the voices from a thousand years uninvited, living in between my tears
in the end
till there is nothing
in the end
