

Love and Truth

Mother Mother

Is my life not all that I thought it would be?
Is it simply ordinary?
Oh, is it far from all my fantasies? I lay awake, I lay awake at night and brood
About the things I never do
And how I'm missing out, on love and truth Love and truth, why are they so hard to achieve
Love and truth, they're such hot commodities
But come in such small quantities
Love and truth, where are you? I dance, I go out on the town and dance
I go and try to find romance
But all I come home is with empty hands Oh, boo, hoo, hoo
Oh, no, no, no, no, no, no, no
Oh, cha-chagrin
But all I really want is love and truth Oh, love and truth
Why is it that I cannot find these sweet delights
Oh, love and truth, if everything was up to me
I'd make sure that there was plenty of love and truth
Love and truth, where are you?
