

Nobody's Crying But the Baby

Aaron Watson

With Her Little One In One Arm
And The Laundry In The Other
She Sure Could Use A Helping Hand
But Thats The Life Of A Single Mother
Somebody's Calling On The Phone
Somebody's Knocking At The Door
She Forgets And Burns The Dinner
Throws It Acrossed The Kitchen Floor
And For A Moment She Wants To Give Up And Break Down
But Nobody's Crying But The Baby
She Ain't Far From Going Crazy
There Are Time She Wonders How She's Going To Make It
But She Got To Be Strong Enough For Two
She's Gotta Do What He Wouldn't Do
No Time For Tears Around Here
Nobody's Crying But The Baby
And When The Day Is Done
She'll Tuck Her Angel In
She'll Turn Out The Lights And Start Missing In Him
Her Mascara Slowly Runs Down Her Face
But Nobody's Crying But The Baby
She Ain't Far From Going Crazy
There Are Time She Wonders How She's Going To Make It
But She Got To Be Strong Enough For Two
She's Gotta Do What He Wouldn't Do
No Time For Tears Around Here
Nobody's Crying
But The Baby Is Getting Older
The Lonely Nights Are Getting Colder
What She Wouldn't Give To Have A Shoulder To Cry On
But She Got To Be Strong Enough For Two
She's Gotta Do What He Wouldn't Do
No Time For Tears Around Here
Nobody's Crying But The Baby
But The Baby
