Sleepy Tigers

Her Space Holiday

Oh, I like you so very much So much, in fact I gotta wake you up It's not that I have words to speak I just wanna see you looking at me In a way, that statesIn an hour when the sun comes up We're gonna put on our shoes, we're gonna shake the dust Open the door with your brand new key We won't be afraid of being sweet to ourselves Or anybody, anybody elseOh, I miss you so very much So much, in fact I gotta call you up It's not that I have news to bring Just wanna make your telephone ring So it shows and you know In a week when I fly back home We're gonna jump in bed and be all alone You'll make biscuits and I'll make tea Curl up close and then fall asleep to the sound Of no one else, no else aroundAnd if I've learned anything at all In this short life of mine If you hear that joy has come to town Track it down, take a picture and tape it to your eyesOh, I love you so very much So much, in fact I'm gonna switch it up Gonna take this room that I built for fun And burn down the walls in front of everyone So they see, you and meDancing in our sleepy clothes With two big smiles and a bowl of hope We'll drink down like ginger tea

The heat will help us forget everything

That you and I, that you and I have seenAnd if I've learned anything at all

In this short life of mine

If you hear that joy has come to town

Track it down, take a picture and tape it to your eyes
