Matthew Good

I can hear your heart beat on the other side of town the windows shake and the windbreaks, they rattle around stand in the yard, my hole card flipped up in a cloud I can see your heart beat from the other side of town If you're coming with me, come with me now no more no less, no faith to test, no asking how across the sea there's a part of me that's captured in a cloud now I just hear your heart beat from the other side of town I can hear your heart beat on the other side of town lay in bed and pound my head, try and drown it out used to be a part of me that never thought to doubt now I just hear your heart beat from the other side of town
