You're Not Alone

StorySide:B

When I look at you, I see your soul
So fragile and beautiful
I know I have made so many mistakes
I can't deny, I'll take the blameI wish I could heal that look in your eyes
If you won't feel too compromised
So I get down, down on my knees
And I hear you say these words to meYou're not alone, you're not alone
Even though you feel so far from home
You're not alone, you're not alone
And if you just stop and look around
You're not the only oneAre you feeling separated from love?
And the way you thought this life should be
Just open your heart
Hear these words that were said to me and say it to me
