

I Love to Hate Myself

Clawfinger

I always criticise myself for being what I am
I despise myself for being born inside this man
I don't express emotions I just keep them bottled up
I always keep my doors closed when they should be opened up I love to hate myself my biggest threat is me
I look at my reflection and I see an enemy
I love to hate myself my biggest threat is me
I look at my reflection and I see an enemy I expect the worst because I lack self confidence
I just close myself off when the pressure gets intense
I put myself down every time that I'm setback
I stop myself before I start so I don't lose my track I love to hate myself my biggest threat is me
I look at my reflection and I see an enemy
I love to hate myself my biggest threat is me
I look at my reflection and I see an enemy I love to hate myself
I love to hate myself
I love to hate myself
My biggest threat is me I feel so bad about myself 'cos I don't think I'm good enough
And I don't dare to say the things I know I really should discuss
I think I need someone to help me get my feet back on the ground
Because I kick my fucking head in when I'm already laying down I love to hate myself my biggest threat is me
I look at my reflection and I see an enemy
I love to hate myself my biggest threat is me
I look at my reflection and I see an enemy I love to hate myself
I love to hate myself
I love to hate myself
My biggest threat is me
