

To A Friend

Alexisonfire

I'm thinking that its time to get out
My patients are fading fast
The mind bruises just a little bit easier
In dark times and shadows cast What are you suffering for?
Your pride or some kind of personal war?
And will you throw it all away?
For nothing more than a simple taste?
I stay in time and watch you pass by
Paranoia woven deep beneath my skin
And I draw this line
Breath slow
You shouldn't have to fight alone
You shouldn't have to fight at all
It's nobody's battle but your own Panic holds me like a gun
Firm and steadfast bleak and cold
I think it's time to kill the drama
This lifestyle is getting old Faces threaten from behind closed doors
Eyes spy from dark windows
Plotting minds that seek to harm me, or maybe not There is Something
Waiting
For me
In the Darkest
Part of
My imagination This is just self-induced terror
There's more to come
This is just a glimpse
I tell myself its all in my head
But I'm pretty hard to convince Oh, there's no relief
Oh, this wold can offer
Oh, there's no relief
Oh, this world can offer me I stay in time and watch you pass by
I draw this line
And hope you'll take my side
You shouldn't have to fight alone
Its nobody's battle but your own

Songwriters

GREEN, DALLAS/HASTINGS, JORDAN/MACNEIL, WADE/PETTIT, GEORGE Published by Lyrics © EMI Music Publishing, Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S.
Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>