

Something Else

Robin Thicke

I want something else
I want something else
I'm a man, I love my drink
I like the girls, I've walked these streets
But I need a break, some new town
'Cause the way it tastes, it is going down, I say
I want something else
I love the stuff, it's never enough
I want something else
You know what I need, just give it to me please
Losing control, I'm about to explode tonight
I got a girl, she's tired of this city
She wants to go where she feels pretty
Yes, she wants a new mind, sexy all the time
In the middle of the dinner she whispers in my ear, says
I want something else
I love the stuff, it's never enough
I want something else
You know what I need, just give it to me please

I'm losing control, I'm about to explode tonight
I need some more, I need some more
I need some more, I need some more
I need some more, I need some more
I need some more, I need some more
It's never enough, it's never enough
It's never enough, it's never enough
It's never enough, it's never enough
It's never enough, it's never enough
I want something else
I want the stuff, it's never enough
I want something else
You know what I need, just give it to me please
I want something else
I want the stuff, it's never enough
I want something else
You know what I need, just give it to me please
I'm losing control, I'm about to explode tonight
