

Better in the Dark

Say Lou Lou

They say that everyday is a new beginning,
But I know I'm not alone when the darkness hits me
We dream all day in black and white
And when the sun comes down and we learn to live again
We waste away the darkest light
And when the sun comes down and we learn to love again It feels better in the dark
It feels better in the dark
I feel closer to your heart and nothing can come between us
It feels better
It feels better in the dark
I feel closer to your heart and nothing can come between us Lights flash before my eyes and the curtains open
I know the sound, a familiar line when the spell is broken We dream all day in black and white
And when the sun comes down and we learn to live again
We waste away the darkest light
And when the sun comes down and we learn to love again It feels better in the dark
It feels better in the dark
I feel closer to your heart and nothing can come between us
It feels better in the dark
It feels better in the dark
I feel closer to your heart and nothing can come between us We will take what we're given
And we will bury our love in the night
Soon our love is forgiven, Soon I will leave you here
Maybe I'll dream of you once in a while It feels better in the dark
It feels better in the dark It feels better, it feels better in the dark
I feel closer to your heart and nothing can come between us
It feels better in the dark
It feels better in the dark
I feel closer to your heart and nothing can come between us

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>