Dawn and Dusk

The Send

I've found a way to talk
I've found a way to water down
The things that I have thought
Then in the end I always fall shortThe morning has a voice
Calling out to me, come clean
To rise and have a choice
But I'd rather regret to see what night bringsTorn between
Your separated arms or staying in the dark
So coming clean
I make it seem so hard but still I've gone
Still I've gone too farYou gave to me a choice
You showed me how to lay it down
And find that quiet voice
When everything pounds to beat through my veinsTorn between
Your separated arms or staying in the dark
So coming clean
I make it seem so hard but still I've gone
Still I've gone too farI'll fight the feeling down
To fight the feeling down
I'll fight the feeling down
To fight the feelingTorn between
Your separated arms or staying in the dark
So coming clean
I make it seem so hard but still I've gone
Still I've gone too far
