

Insomnia

Kamelot

When the darkness brings the cold to draw me under
I am caught between the chapters of a dream
Something's reaching out and my entire world is crumblin'
When the darkness brings the cold to draw me under
I am caught between the chapters of a dream
Something's reaching out and my entire world is crumblin'
And it whispers that I am the chosen one(Can you hear me?)
'Cause when the night begins to fall
I watch the shadows growing tall
Feeding my insomnia like a fly on the wall I'm asleep but wide awake; a nightmare on repeat
In the haze I sense the purpose of my soul
We're all born to leave a scar deep in the hearts of many
But can I really trust that I'm the chosen one(Can you hear me?)
'Cause when the night begins to fall
I watch the shadows growing tall
Feeding my insomnia like a fly on the wall
(Can you hear me?)
When the night begins to fall
I hear a thousand voices call
Chasing my insanity like a fly on the wall My wide eyed confidence still echoes in mind
A bright white prophecy, protector of the light(Can you hear me?)
'Cause when the night begins to fall
I watch the shadows growing tall
Feeding my insomnia like a fly on the wall
(Can you hear me?)
When the night begins to fall
I hear a thousand voices call
Chasing my insanity like a fly on the wall
