

A Rose In The Wind

Anggun

I was born at daybreak, to the road I did take
Trembling as the ground shakes under my feet
Cracked in the stone heat, never ending motion
Way across the ocean, into your devotion
Long have I gone, so far from my home
What to do with this love that I'm in?
I have given you all of my soul
Flying all my life like a rose in the wind
Tell me why I am always alone on my way home?
Dreaming always begin, find a door that's opening
Something there is shining, the light in your eyes
When you were all mine, all alone as I wake, moving in a new place
Shivering as I trace a road of my own cut by the deep cold
What to do with this love that I'm in?
I have given you all of my soul
Flying all my life like a rose in the wind
Tell me why I am always alone?
Hang on to me tight and a rose in the wind
Will be with you wherever you go, all the way back home
Can I take you back there? Drifting on the warm air
Say you'll follow anywhere, all of our nights
Into the jade skies
I'll be true to you, flying over the moon
Lying in the bamboo, I'll always know
The light in the window
What to do with this love that I'm in?
I have given you all of my soul
Flying all my life like a rose in the wind
Tell me why I am always alone?
