

Sunset on the Golden Age

Alestorm

Inside of aeons from chaotic spires

    A shell of frozen time

Where beats the silent ocean

    Of shadows turned sublime

Forces of inspiring luminescence

    Guide the hidden way

I know that it will take me to

    Another golden age

Sundered from daylight, by the rage of the unseen

    Betwixt carbonic plateaus where rarity convenes

Under the heat of a thousand suns destruction is attained

    When flows the red and ochre histories ingrained

Legends pass and time ticks on, entropy prevails

    Into the endless darkness every ship must sail

    Ouroboros uncoiled, the circle ends tonight

One thousand years of history banished from all sight

    The sun will set forever

    Never to rise again

    And in the coming darkness

    We'll fight to the bitter end

Our legend passed from memory

    It's time to turn the page

The sun has set upon the golden age The final chapter, the end is close at hand

    Across the boundary where ocean meets the sand

    Embrace the anatine, forsake all that you know

The tenebrous cosmic sphere where all of us must go

Inside of aeons from chaotic spires

    A shell of frozen time

Where beats the silent ocean

    Of shadows turned sublime

Forces of inspiring luminescence

    Guide the hidden way

I know that it will take me to

    Another golden age

    The sun will set forever

    Never to rise again

    And in the coming darkness

    We'll fight to the bitter end

Our legend passed from memory

It's time to turn the page
The sun has set, now night is falling
Never again to hear the calling
The sun has set upon the golden age

Songwriters

BOWES, CHRISTOPHER / LAMMERT, LASSE / ALCORN, PETER
Published by
Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>