

Escapist

Landscapes

On the stairs of death i write your name oh liberty, come step my way from fools in greed, the lost and found I sink my teeth, below the ground in wasted days, and same old fights those heavy lows, and lonesome nights I'm finding peace, in hollow bones and murders love upholds alone Nostalgia drooled saliva rain and soma drugs for people strange I cut my teeth where nomads roam
As my reflection bears resemblance to someone I used to know White lights release, entombing me When all's lost in bloom, in bloom there's no escaping death when life hangs by a thread Beneath the shadows filtered softly through the dim lit room
It pulled me under, paralysed, so help me, I was froze Uncontrolling wrath, a cramped mind unfolding Hidden under the cracks in fear I'll never understand I wish to leave, I long to breathe cause this was everything that got me to an early fucking grave I'm scared to sleep and losing my life, so here's to death night after night, (night after night)
Take me away from here
Take me away from here
Take me, Take me, Away.
