

Colour me In

Damien Rice

Will I tried to repress it and I carried its crown
I reached out to undress it and love let me down Love let me down. So I tried to erase it but the ink bled right through Almost drove myself crazy and these words led to you
And all these useless dreams of living alone like a dog-less bone So come let me love you, come let me love you
And then... colour me in. Well I tried to control it and cover it up
I reached out to console it, it was never enough Never enough So I tried to forget it, it was all part of the show Told myself I'd regret it but what do I know, About all these useless dreams about living alone, like a dog-less bone So come let me love you, come let me love you
And then.... colour me in. Come let me love you, come let me take this through the end of all these useless dreams of living, all these useless dreams, all these useless dreams of living, all these, all.... Oh no, so come let me love you, come let me love you, come let me love you, come let me in...
