DeGeneration

Dreamshade

The generation of degrade and ignorance:
so many men destroying each other,fighting for their landsunder the control of schizophrenic divinities Originally brothers and then sworn enemiesThey are supposed to die, only to win the war of their leaders they are supposed to dieIgnorance dominated this world for all this timeIt's not too late so god forgive us allNo future for the weakNo future for the masses Man's fury will destroy all hopeIt's not too late so god forgive us allWe aimed too high, we dared too much,our arrogance let us touch the sky,we felt invincible;
we felt like gods but we were just tyrants to ourselves,so we deserve the bitter endMen burnt down their own world without a reasonand now still don't understand their past mistakesTake your time, look the sky:
clouds are expiring in a slowed apocalypse
The world is changing:I can see a spark in humanity's heartThrough massacres we spread oceans of blood
Through these tears, in these years shines a new eraWe must eclipse this DeGenerationWe must eclipse

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/