

Don't Bother to Cry

Hazel Dickens

Don't bother to cry - 'cause I ain't lookin'
Don't bother to sigh - 'cause I won't hear.
You told me a lie and I believed you
Though you're cryin' you're still lying dear.

So weep no more little baby
Oh, weep no more and moan
Oh, save all your teardrops baby
'Cause your mama's loving heart has turned to stone.

Don't tell me you'll die if I should leave you
Don't pull at your hair - won't help at all
You did it before and fooled my heart dear
Now you might as well talk to the wall.

And weep no more little baby
Oh, weep no more and moan
Save all your teardrops baby
'Cause your mama's loving heart has turned to stone.

Don't bother to cry - 'cause I ain't lookin'
Don't bother to sigh - 'cause I won't hear.
I played the game fair - but you've been cheatin'
As you sew, so you reap; so sorry dear.

And don't bother to cry - 'cause I ain't lookin'
Don't bother to sigh - 'cause I won't hear.
You told me a lie and I believed you
Though you're cryin' you're still lying dear.

I said you're cryin' you're still lying dear.
