

Fading Away (Acoustic Version)

Demon Hunter

It's in this wake that I find myself
Losing the will to resume this hell
When every breath is a dying wish
It's harder to follow the point of this This broken place that I call my home
Is deep in the sorrow that I have sewn
And I can't erase what is in my heart
I wanted to finish before it starts My own solution insufficient again
No false illusion, this devouring threat
I break the vessel, giving air to its red And open my fate to the darkened sky I've been fading away
I've been waiting on a call to reach my veins
Ready or not
No attention to waist
Every sorrow of the soul will reap my name
When I cease to exist So, now I've come to a final sleep
I pray that forgiveness is mine to keep
I know it's hard to forgive this man
Driving the failure into your hands My own solution insufficient again
No false illusion, this devouring threat
I break the vessel, giving air to its red And it's open my fate to the darkened sky I've been fading away
I've been waiting on a call to reach my veins
Ready or not
No attention to waist
Every sorrow of the soul will reap my name
When I cease to exist
When I cease to exist I've been fading away
I've been waiting on a call to reach my veins
Ready or not
No attention to waist
Every sorrow of the soul will reap my name
When I cease to exist I've been fading away
I've been waiting on a call to reach my veins
Ready or not
No attention to waist
Every sorrow of the soul will reap my name
When I cease to exist
When I cease to exist

Songwriters

DON CLARK, RYAN CLARK Published by

Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>